Carpet Products

Most carpets manufactured today are produced in 12-foot widths and all require seaming. Carpet seams will be made using the best practices of the trade. Seams cannot be guaranteed to be invisible, and the results will vary with different carpet textures. Carpet seams that have been joined together with hot melt tape, and then stretched, will naturally peak. Time and normal traffic will help alleviate this situation.

Looped, Patterned and low profile carpets are durable and unique. However, consumers should be aware that seams in these carpet styles may be more visible and their prominence will vary depending on specific textures, colors, lighting and peaking. If installed on stairs, these carpets will allow the backing to be visible at the bend in the stairs. Again, carpet style and density will influence the visible seams. If you are concerned with visible seams, there are other styles to choose from such as Saxony, Texture, Frieze or Cable.

PAD

Pad is a commodity product with many manufactures that manufacture the padding using the same specifications but different processes. Padding has specified thickness and density factors, which may come in a multitude of skin colors and banded, scrap material. Color differences will not affect performance. The color of the pad that you choose in the store may be different that the color that will be installed, but the thickness will be the same.

Maintenance

All carpets require vacuuming a minimum of once a week and spot cleaning in all traffic areas as often as necessary to maintain a neat and clean appearance regardless of the quality, style, or level of stain protection you have selected. Steam or chemical cleaning carpet can often alter appearance and performance. When cleaning consult your manufacturer for proper professional cleaning requirements and before adding additional stain protection. Stain protection applications do not make a carpet stain proof, even though they increase the carpet stain resistance capabilities, usual precautions should be observed to maintain your carpet. White or light carpets will show dirt and soiling more readily than others. Please consider this fact when selecting your carpet.

I have read and understand the above information regarding carpet products and their characteristics. I have also viewed a sample of the flooring I have selected and understand carpet may vary for reasons described above.
